Pardons have been issued for Allen M. Drawdy, Joseph Allen and sanc Brantley.

AN OBSTREPEROUS CHARACTER. - One of the most obstreperous characters in the city is a colored fowl vender, by the name of Henry Drain. He is before the Mayor "early and o ten," is punished and discharged, and ere many days he is at his old pranks again. Yesterday, he was arrested for his chronic tailing-dis rderly conduct; and also for interfering with he Clerk of the Market. He will be up again this morning, and so will Thomas Green, a colored youth, for vagrancy.

INCENDIARISM .- On the night of the 24th of January, an attempt was made to set fire to an outhouse on the premises at the corner of Anu and ru sabeth streets. The materials used were kerosene oil and tallow candles. Fortunately they did not ignite. Another attempt was made on the night of the 31st January to fire the storeroom of the establishment of Mr. Wohlkin, at the same place. Mr. Wohlkin has given information of the facts to the police officers for investigation. Some one seems determined to burn him out.

THE PROPOSED CONGRESSIONAL AID TO THE ORPHAN ASYLUM OF THE SISTERS OF MERCY.-The Washington papers generally sustain the petition preferred by officers and soldiers of the Union army, in favor of the rebuilding of the Charleston Orphan Asylum, which was destroyed during the bombardment by the Federal forces. The National Intelligencer prints the following letter from Sister F. Xavier to Hon. F. A. Sawyer, which will explain fally the position of the Sisterhood in regard to the

No. 406 I ENTH STREET, WASHINGTON, January 23, 7869.

Hon. F. A. Sawser, Unit d States Senator: DEAR SIR—I have ponde ed over your suggestion of yesterday regarding our petition, but could not come to the conclusion of making it out in the shape of a claim, which it certainly would be were come to the conclusion of making it out in the shape of a claim, which it certainly would be were I to have a calculation drawn out of the money expended for the relief of Union prisoners. I assure you Mr. Senator, I had rather let the unsightly ruins of our Orphan Asylum remain as a monument of the late war than present a bill of charges for services which we voluntarily rendered to those poor fellows who sacrificed their blood and liberty for the maintenance of the Union. The senators are aware that our petition has been gotten up by the men who were the recipients of our attentions during their libress in the prison hospitals of Charleston; and seconded by the recommendations of their general officers. Therefore do we decline making out a claim; they ask it as a gratuity for services rendered to the government. Moreover, Mr. Senator, money could not repay our labors during the whole of the war; but the generosity of the government can compensate our losses by granting the prayers of those who served their country in the hour of peril. Knowing as I do your influence and that of Senator Robertson, as well as the desire of many of the senators and members of Congress to grant the prayer of so many officers who had been prisoners of war, therefore do I leave this matter in your hands, in the hope that South Carolina may rejoice to find that her destitute orphans have found tathers in the senators of their state.

I have the honor to be, with high esteem, dear sir, most respectfully years.

DO NOT TRIFLE WITH DANGER .- A single spark may kindle a flame that will consume t city, and small ailments neglected, may end in fatal disorders. Bearing this fact in mind, let the firs symptoms of debility or nervous prostration be me promptly with invigorating treatment. Foremosi among the vegetable tonics of the age stands HOS TEITER'S STOMACH EITTERS, and whenever the vital powers seem to languish, or there is any rea son to suspect that the animal functions essential to the sustenation and purification of the body are imperfectly performed, this invaluable invigorant and antiseptic should at once be resorted to. Indigestion always produces weakness. Somestimes it happens -and this is more frequently the case in Winter than at any other season,—that the appetite demands more food than the stomach can digest; though not more, perhaps, than is required to keep up the full strength of the frame. The object, under such circumstances, is to increase the digestive capacity of the assimulating organ, so as to make it equal to the duty imposed upon it by the appetite, and capable of supplying the building material of the system as fast as it is required. This object is fully accomplished by the use of the Bitters. They tone and gently stimulate the cellular membrane which secretes the gastric juice, and the result is that the solvent is mingled with the food in sufficient quantity to convert all its nourishing particles into pure and wholesome element. If, on the other hand, there is a de ficiency of appetite, without any corresponding deficiency of digestive power, the effect of the tonic is to stimulate a desire for food. In nineteen cases out of twenty, beadache, nauses, nervousness, fainting fits, spasms, and, indeed, most of the casual ache and pains to which humanity is subject, proceed primarily from indigestion complicated with bilious-ness; and for both these complaints HOSTETSER'S STOMACH BITTERS are recommended as a speedy and certain cure.
